Drawing Game - Basic Feature List.pdf;

Hi Everyone,

Apologies with the delay in getting this to you, I've been on night shift for the last few days. I've put together a list of the essential features and some of the ideal features for the initial basic drawing game. As mentioned in the discussion we had last week, there are quite a few other features I would like to eventually implement, but for the sake of clarity, I've kept the list to the main points.

I've attached it to this email for your reference but will shortly try to share it with you as a google doc so that you can also edit it yourselves. There is a column on the right where you can put your names down for the features you wish to work on. I'm happy for more than one of you to work on a specific feature if you wish to do so. The top two items on the list (especially setting up the version control) are the ones that I need the most help with, but don't feel obliged to take them on if it doesn't suit you.

I'll also be sending the current project file to you all shortly.

Please feel free to get in touch if you have any questions or thoughts.

Thanks again for meeting with me and I look forwards to working with you all to make this game a reality!

Cheers,
Garry

Good afternoon Garry,

Magnus has passed on your therapeutic drawing game proposal and we would love to arrange a meeting with you to discuss it in more detail.

Thursday afternoon works well for us but let us know if another day would be more suitable for you.

Kind Regards
